THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. Chinese Communist shock troops are armed with PPSH's and hand grenades. The artillery wait several kilometers behind the infantry for the results of the charge, which is observed by the cavalry. The Chinese use a flute as the signal to prepare for attack, a bugle as the signal that the preliminary stage is completed, a whistle as the order to charge the enemy position. The troops' spirits are whipped up by intoxicants.
2. Intelligence units attached to the North Korean forces are sending agents disguised as refugees to guerrilla forces to inform them of the latest news and to bolster their morale. They are usually disguised as woodgatherers so that they have an excuse for being in the mountain areas with the guerrillas.
3. South Korean leftists and Communist sympathizers who retreated northward with the North Korean troops are being trained and organized into shock troops and patrol units ahead of regular Korean and Chinese forces.
4. The People's Committees in North Korea are confiscating all available food and housing for the use of Korean and Chinese troops. Food is piled in every county and township office. Each settlement is responsible for two to thirty heads of cattle or pigs.
5. In areas recaptured by the North Koreans north of Chunchon, approximately 40 percent of the remaining citizens were shot. Twenty percent were detained by the State Security Bureau or other North Korean security organs.
